

Your Freedom

© 2020 C.S. Taber

When the wind is alive
When it whispers your name
When you live to survive
When you dance with the flame

I'm counting the days in your heartbeat
I'm living the nights in your mind
You can't escape from your freedom
You can't give me what is mine

Your freedom will not save you today

When the night winds arrive
When they carry your voice
When hope springs alive
It's a dangerous choice

I'm counting the days in your heartbeat
I'm living the nights in your mind
You can't escape from your freedom
You can't give me what is mine

Your freedom will not save you today

When the fire burns low and undaunted
When I can't feel your heart in the night
When the places we know are all haunted
When love falls apart in the light

I'm counting the days
I'm living the nights
You'll never escape
Our stars won't align

Your freedom will not save you today